

A treemap visualization showing the distribution of six regions. The regions are represented by colored rectangles of varying sizes, each labeled with the region name and its percentage. The regions are: Asian (25%, pink), Australian (18%, purple), North American (20%, lime green), African (12%, cyan), South American (10%, light green), and European (15%, yellow). The rectangles are arranged in a hierarchical layout, with Asian and Australian at the top left, North American at the bottom left, and the other three regions grouped on the right.
